> Dymond PEAR

Perhaps at last the perfect pear. From a newly found seedling in the orchards of Mr. Dymond was discovered a distinctively different, outstanding pear. Dymond is a combination of all the best qualities of other varieties and superior in every respect. From the massive white blooms in early May to the mature fruit between September 10th and 15th, Dymond is the Pear Supreme. Extra large, uniform fruit hang like golden pendants midst rich, clean healthy foliage. A coy scarlet blush invites you to reach out and bite into the superbly flavored, fine-textured, white, juicy melting goodness. The tree stands straight, grows vigorously, is resistant to disease and can be depended upon for bountiful crops of "gift packaging" fruit year after year.

A distinct new variety that is vigorous, hardy, productive, well formed, self pollinizing and outstanding in every regard. Surely no home or commercial orchard is complete without a planting of this excellent variety.

STRAWBERRY

New everbearer so rugged it can be grown by Eskimos

A new super-hardy everbearing strawberry developed at Bemidji, Minnesota, where temperatures are often the lowest in the United States (40 to 50 degrees below zero). Chief Bemidji survives these temperatures with no winter cover and rewards you with large beautiful berries, bright scarlet red to the core. A big cropper, high sugar, extremely sweet, low acid flavor. A winter proof variety that will not only provide you fresh, honey sweet berries in June, but also in mid-summer and again abundantly from September till frost. Plant Chief Bemidji this spring and enjoy delicious berries all season--it's really good.

> Himrod---New Seedless Grape

Kelly's take pride in being the first to bring you Himrod--a superior new seedless grape. The product of many long years of testing and research; a triumph for the plant breeders at the New York State Experiment Station. This great new grape produces abundant rich, golden-yellow berries, hanging in loose clusters, inviting you to enjoy the sweet, delicious, vinous flavor. Each amber berry can be eaten whole, like California grapes, for there are NO SEEDS.

Each berry just packed full of meaty, tender goodness. You'll pick basket after basket of mouth-watering, seedless, taste treats, repening about September 15th, from vines that are extremely easy-to-grow, free from disease and very vigorous, withstanding temperatures of 20 degrees below zero without harm. The very best, carefully selected for outstanding size, quality, seedlessness and the capacity to bear and grow. Be the first to grow the very best.

Green Rose

Here's just the thing for your garden!

Just picture a green rose as warm and nostalgic as the fields of Kilarney.

They'll flourish in any good garden soil with very little care, growing 4-5 ft. The most amazing conversation piece, sure to catch that second glance and raves from your guests and friends. Who'd ever guess that the lovely rose-like blooms are actually a new concept of foliage as the buds open to double green flowers. Not an authentic replica of the famous hybrid teas but a guaranteed conversation starter to glamorize your garden, and draw rave notices from your neighbors.

The First [>] Purple Autumn Everbearing Purple Raspberry

new

Imagine your own fresh picked purple raspberries all season long. From summer till snow flies. All the berries you'll want for luscious pies, short-cakes, jams and jellies. Thanks to the Illinois Agricultural Experiment Station, comes the first everbearing purple raspberry, created by crossing Bristol and Indian Summer. Purple Autumn starts to bear in early summer on vigorous, stocky plants with large, smooth attractive leaves, cuddling the exceptionally large individual berries, high in flavor, free from crumbling and easily picked, separating readily from the receptacle.

Purple Autumn is free from disease, hardy and produces basket after basket of exhibition fruit, the finest you've ever tasted.

Oriental Tree Peonies

Imagine the thrill of these historic Oriental Tree Peonies that by imperial decree were to be grown only in the gardens of Oriental Princes and potentates. The plants were first smuggled from China about 1787, but later these early collections all but disappeared since the secrets of propagation were known only to few. Fortunately we have been able to arrange with a large Oriental producer to supply our customers with his collection, gathered from the finest Japanese gardens.

Huge Flowers Up to 8 inches on Small Trees

Unlike the regular Peonies of American gardens, the Tree Peony does not die back to the ground, but produces woody stems each year, increasing in size to about 4 or 5 ft., producing an unforgettable display of up to 100 giant blossoms. Each lovely, double, goblet-shaped flower measures up to 8 inches across. What a thrill to watch them unfurl their fragrant petals with the rich gleam of the finest oriental silk.

Extremely Hardy---Easy to Grow

Despite their exotic loveliness, your Tree Peonies are perfectly hardy at 20 degrees below zero. Just plant in any well drained, sunny location and they will stand more downright neglect than other plants. So amazingly hardy, they live for generations, becoming larger and lovelier with each passing year.

The Most Highly Prized Plant of the Orient

These treasures from out of the past deserve the most outstanding place in your garden. Truly "The King of Flowers." Surely nothing can compare to their majestic beauty.
